WATER STORAGE.

Next Saturday a meeting will be held in Phoenix for the consideration of a most important question, the proper solution of which is necessary to bring about the highest degree of prosperity in the Sait River valley. It will be attended by intelligent and experienced men who will hold various views only The Human Electrical Forces! one of which can be the best, though all of them may be good and practica- How They Contro! the Organs ble. The subject to be discussed is the irrigation of the future in Arizona.

The present system is good and just now sufficient, but the phenomenal growth of population in the valley and the increasing acreage of reclaimed lands shows that it can be but a short time until the system will be inadequate.

It is predicted that within ten years the Salt River valley will be the most densely populated agricultural district in the United States a prediction however which is entirely dependent for fulfillment upon the solution of the water problem. That enough water is annually poured down the river to absolutely irrigate an area much larger than the whole valley is a fact agreed upon but a comparatively small volume of the water can be saved for the time when it is most needed. So it is admitted by sil that an ample storage system is necessary. The question then to be considered is by no means a complicated one but the discussion of it is confined to the method of procuring storage capacity.

One of the most earnest contests in Seventeenth legislature arose over this subject, and it was decided that additional irrigation legislation was not practicable at this stage of the country's settlement.

Indeed if since then the conditions had changed it is urged now that the demand is so pressing that we could than the whole valley is a fact agreed demand is so pressing that we could not wait two more years for legislation, which after all might be defective.

One thing is certain, that money in vast sums is required to secure storage to meet the demand say five years hence, when every acre of reclaimable land in the valley shall have been reclaimed. The county can not now supply the money and will be unable to do so then, so that the final solution of the problem seems to he in the introduction of foreign capital. The Hudson Reservoir and Irrigation Company has nearly completed the survey of a system which has long been regarded as one which would thoroughly solve the problem of isrigation and one whose practicability dependedonly upon the possibility of obtaining sufficient capital to carry it out. Estimates by competent engineers of the company place the amount at between five and six million dollars, and officers of the company give assurance that the capital is available and only awaiting the completion of the survey to begin the work of construction which will occupy a period of perhaps two years. The public has been kept informed of the progress of the survey and the character of the enterprise which they can discuss intelligently at the meeting next Saturday and which they will no doubt regard as a correct solution of the ques-

NOBLE PUEBLO.

Banking in Pueblo, Colo., is carried on with less risk and more satisfaction than in the towns effervescent and villages of California. The American National bank there with a capital of more than a million dollars suspended last week followed the same day by the suspension of the Western National and Central National, both strong ins-

This was enough to rattle the town and lead to the belief that the end of the financial world had come. The majority of the people, however, kept their heads and every available dollar was placed at the disposal of the suspended banks. Merchants made changes in their ads in the newspapers and announced to their customers that checks on those banks would be gladly received in payment for merchandise.

The banks have not yet resumed, but the people are cheerful and confident. It is a significant fact that those who were engaged in the run were foreigners LIVERY FEED AND SALE STABLE and persons of means who were living upon their deposits.

ACCORDING to the latest edition of the American Newspaper Directory, there are now published in the country 20,934 newspapers and periodicals, an increase of 1,292 within one year and of 15,715 since the first issue of the Directory in 1869, when the total number was but 5,219. New York leads, with 2,131, and Alaska has four only-the smallest number in all the territorial divisions. Massachusetts, with a population of more than 2,000,000, has a less number of newspapers by fifty one than the comparatively new state of Kansas, with one-fourth less population, but it will undoubtedly be found that more people in Massachusetts are newspaper readers than in Kansas or eisewhere.
